A decorative white floral border with intricate scrollwork and leaf patterns surrounds the central text area. The border is symmetrical and frames the page content.

ABSTRACT

❖ The purpose of this study is to investigate the literary and communicative trends that go a step beyond colonialism within Laramie, Wyoming. The desired result of this study is to develop a greater understanding of how the world has adapted mediated communication to match the needs of society. There is a deep and rich history of mediated communication within the city of Laramie from the early development of the railroad onward to present day.

ABSTRACT

---

The developments and global standards reflected within Laramie, Wyoming reflect a vivid history of the development of mediated communication around the globe. This study will display the distinct intersections of cultural influence that has developed the intersection of transnationalism through mediated communication. Starting at the first development of western society in Laramie, Wyoming to the modern day developments in global mediated communication reflected through the lens of Laramie, Wyoming.

MY BACKGROUND

- ❖ This project is a representation of my passion for the community of Laramie and the University of Wyoming.
- ❖ I was born in Ivinson Memorial Hospital, Laramie, Wyoming on August 12, 1992.
- ❖ Many of my first memories as well as photographs display a childhood Sven wearing University of Wyoming gear with a cowboy hat and boots.
- ❖ I will never forget the kindness and care my community has always displayed to the outside world.
- ❖ Laramie represents a sense of belonging to a global world full of detail, exquisite tastes, understanding morals, thoughtful representation and a worldly lens of culture.

MEDIATED COMMUNICATION

- ❖ The mediated communication that I wished to research includes the use of information bearing communication technology, this technology differs from face to face communication, as there is a mediation of the information carried along a destined location.
- ❖ Many people of my generation often think of social media or electronic applications when referring to the use of mediated communication as many people today are not inclined to use the United States Postal service, as well as a hard copy of information carried from one person to another.

SEALS OF THE TERRITORY OF WYOMING

1869-1890

The first Seal of Wyoming Territory was designed by Wyoming's first Governor, John A. Campbell, who issued a proclamation on May 19, 1869, ordering its adoption. This seal, as seen at the left, was used until another was adopted by the 1869 Legislative Assembly.

The Proclamation described the seal as follows:

The Seal adopted by the Legislative Assembly, December 9, 1869, was, with some minor changes, in accordance with a design submitted by Governor Campbell.

The Legislative Act described the seal as follows:

On March 10, 1882, the Legislative Assembly amended the 1869 Act correcting the error in the Latin quotation from “Cedant Arma Toga” to “Cedant Arma Togae,” also the year 1868 was changed to 1869. These were the only changes by law, but when struck the Norman shield was embellished as seen in the accompanying print. This seal was used until the First State Legislature adopted a new seal for the State.

STATE SEALS

With the admission of the State into the Union, our lawmakers saw fit for Wyoming to adopt a State Seal, to differ from the Territorial Seal.

On January 10, 1891, the first State Legislature passed an act providing for a State Seal.*

An Act providing for the Great Seal of the State of Wyoming, and describing the same.

The first State Seal, the act for which was passed January 10, 1891, having met with so much disapproval was doomed to be discarded. The Second State Legislature on February 8, 1893 passed an Act providing for a new State Seal, which is shown above.

The colorful seal above is commonly used though it is not official. The official Great Seal of the State of Wyoming has an Arabic 44 in the center of the star.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS

BY GOVERNOR WARREN

1889

FELLOW CITIZENS: You have been pleased to induct me into the service of the people of Wyoming, as your chief executive officer, with marked and imposing ceremony; and, for this, I am truly grateful; but, if I understand the genius of this meeting and demonstration, you have assembled less to honor the individual, and more to pay tribute to a principle, and celebrate our material progress—to show our appreciation of home rule, and to hail coming statehood.

As long ago as 1856 an important movement was commenced to establish that of right all legislative, executive and judicial officers of a territory should be selected from actual residents thereof, but like all other reforms, it encountered determined resistance.

THE WYOMING "BUCKING HORSE" LICENSE PLATE

The unique and attractive Wyoming bucking horse license plate was originated and designed in 1935 and first issued to the people of Wyoming in 1936. The cowboy plate is known from coast to coast and immediately identifies Wyoming people wherever they may be traveling by automobile.

This license plate, designed by Governor Lester C. Hunt while he was Secretary of State, is not only symbolic of our State, but it also carries a definite advertising value for Wyoming.

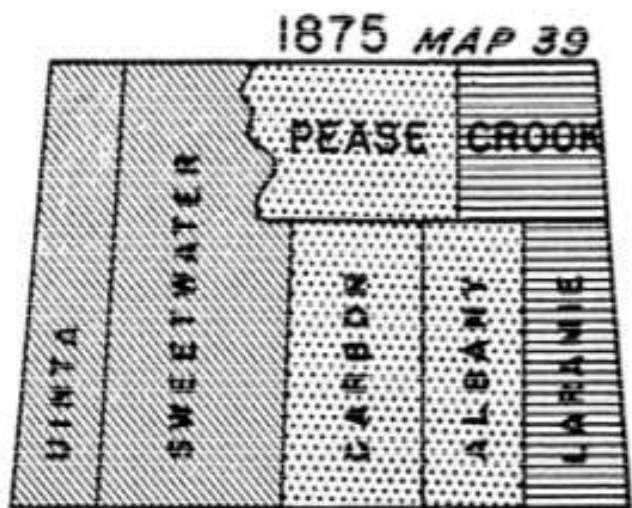

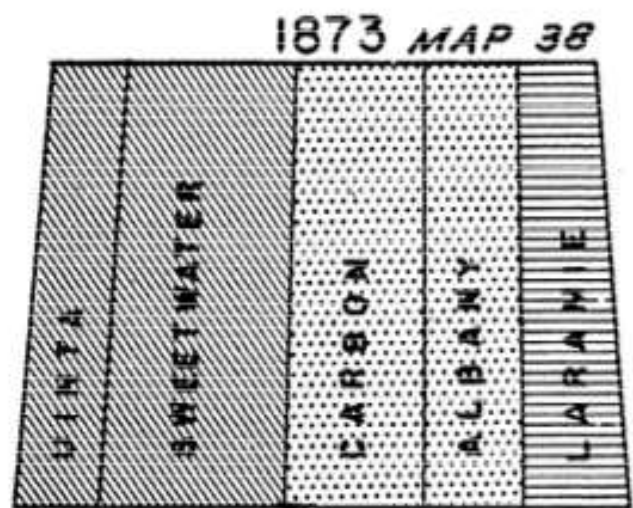

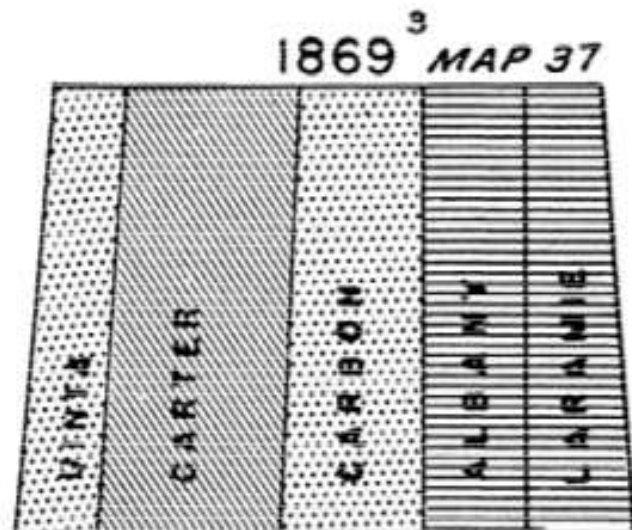

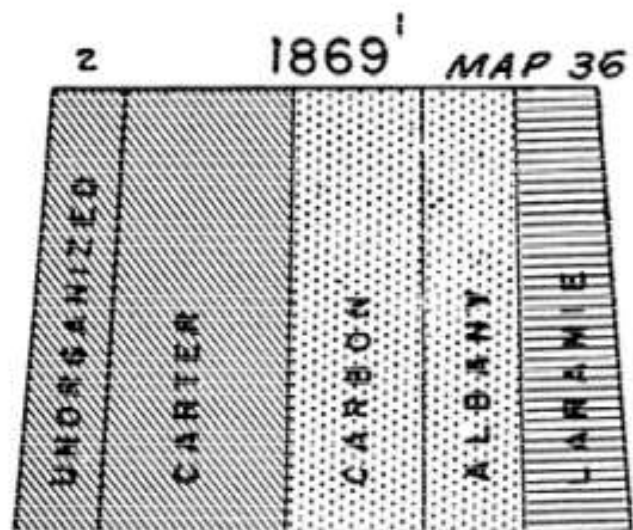

The art work was by Alvin True, who did the murals in the Legislative chambers.

The State of Wyoming owns the copyright of this license plate.

"THE EQUALITY STATE"

To Robert Morris, Territorial Historian, is given the credit for giving Wyoming the popular nickname of "The Equality State". His reason was that the Constitution provided that "The Rights of the Citizens of the State

STATE FLAG

The Fourteenth Legislature on January 31, 1917, adopted a State Flag by the passage of the following act:

SECTION 1. That a state flag be, and is hereby, adopted to be used on all occasions when the state is officially and publicly represented, with the privilege of use by all citizens upon such occasions as they may deem fitting and appropriate. The width of said flag shall be seven-tenths of its length; the outside border to be red, the width of which shall be one-twentieth of the length of the flag; next to said border shall be a stripe of white on the four sides of the field, which shall be in width one-fortieth of the length of said flag. The remainder of said flag to be a blue field, in the center of which shall be a white silhouetted buffalo, the length of which shall be one-half of the length of the said blue field; the other measurements of said buffalo to be in proportion to its length. On the ribs of said buffalo shall be the great seal of the State of Wyoming in blue. Said seal shall be in diameter one-fifth the length of said flag. Attached to the flag shall be a cord of gold with gold tassels. The colors to be used in said flag as red, white and blue shall be the same colors used in the flag of the United States of America.
